

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

To provide a front-end panel which is low-cost and looks attractive when incorporating a reinforcement, a front-end panel includes a first holding member provided along the reinforcement so as to hold one edge of the reinforcement, a second holding member provided along the reinforcement so as to hold the other edge of the reinforcement, and connecting bands for connecting the first holding member with the second holding member.